

What are people saying about the RCN?

Social media has always been such an interesting place to me. Especially twitter - where people are allowed to stay somewhat "anonymous" to the public while expressing their opinions, as the only replies they'll get are the ones that are virtual. This being said, it has given people to freely express how they feel about a certain topic. The topic I chose to delve into in this project is the Royal Canadian Navy and try to understand what the public thinks about the institution. The project itself is 3 parts and is on my Github page. The first part which is visualized on this document is a sentiment analysis. I hope you like it!

What is the overall sentiment in these tweets?

it seems that overall a majority of the tweets are positive and neutral!
